

This is a series of assignment booklets on established plays recommended by the range of GCSE examining boards. Standing independently of the text to which it relates, each booklet explores a well-known play through an informal but developing pattern of plot, character, theme, language and theatre. The books aim to offer an accessible introduction to the study of a these texts and provide insight into the plays. The activities include discussion, written work, role play and aspects of staging and publicizing and are suitable for a wide range of ability.
